

Risk Profile Description

The portfolio aims to have 60% exposure to equity and property assets and 40% exposure to Fixed Interest securities. Over the medium to longer term, the 60% exposure to risks and expected rewards of equity ownership, should help to deliver moderate, inflation-plus returns. The equity exposure is invested in both UK and overseas equities in both developed and emerging markets. The equity risk is balanced by a 40% allocation to high quality bonds and investment grade bonds.

Portfolio Comments

August was another month of growth asset volatility. The cause is a theme that has been affecting financial markets all year - how far will interest rates rise in the major economies to combat rising inflation?

Starting with the volatility story, Wall Street uses an index as a barometer to see what the expected volatility will be over a 30-day period. This index hit a seven-week high recently, due to expectations of further rate increases in September. This comes on the back of US inflation data, which is still running near its highest level in more than 40 years. This is mirrored in the UK.

This volatility was also on the back of some strong words from the US Federal Reserve Chair this month. While higher interest rates, slower economic growth and softer labour market conditions will bring down inflation, they will also bring some pain to households and businesses. These are the unfortunate costs of reducing inflation.

Picking up on economic growth, as central banks have raised interest rates in recent months in response to escalating prices, this makes borrowing more expensive for companies and individuals and this has fuelled the current concerns that economies are falling into recession.

Consumers are grappling with rising energy costs and surging household prices, which continues to underpin a very challenging cost of living crisis.

ESG asset performance was mixed in August. As with growth-style equities, most global ESG equities performed either flat or positive over the month except for those in the UK which fell sharply. Emerging market ESG equities performed particularly well as a result of 'risk on' behaviour from market participants. Sustainable fixed interest performed poorly as is expected in an inflationary economic backdrop with rising interest rates around the world. These rising rates have resulted in declining prices of both corporate and government bonds with UK gilts being amongst the hardest hit in August.

In summary, financial markets continue to see continued volatility and in the short-term at least, the key discussion points will remain inflation, interest rates and worries over economic growth. For investors, maintaining a diversified portfolio still remains key to riding through these challenging conditions.
